

1862 SOCIETY

The 1862 SOCIETY is the highest form of public recognition for private support given to NDSU. The society gets its name from the year Congress passed the Morrill Act, establishing America's land-grant universities. Membership in the society is accorded those who: (1) have made accumulated gifts totaling $1 million or more, (2) have made an outright gift of $1 million or more, or (3) have made a pledge to give $1 million or more.

Individuals

Frank and Mildred Bain
Richard and Louise Barry
Darrow and Elinor Beaton
Ordean Berg
Walter and Helene Booth
Art and Norene Bunker
Douglas J. Burgum
Robert and Sheila Challey Family
Em and Henry Eggert
Ray E. Sr. and Joni Ehly
Sheldon L. Ellig
John R. Klai II
Grace, Winetta and Delores Lamont
Mildred Larson
James and Evelyn Morrow Lebedeff

Martin J. Marchello and Barbara
Handy-Marchello
William C. and Jane Marcil
James A. Meier
Franklin D. Meyers
Frank M. and Lorraine Elvrum Murphy
Harold and Mary Newman
Marie M. Rudel Portner
Clarence Robert "Bob" Reed
David C. Roeker
Fred B. and Virginia Scheel
Malcolm "Max" and Linda Selig
Thomas R. Sheard
David and Marlys Sunderland
Gary and Connie Tharaldson
Lowell F. Wood

Organizations

AgCountry Farm Credit Services
Gate City Bank
Sanford Health
Scheels All Sports